

ASCA Announces 2015 RAMP Schools

ALEXANDRIA, VA. – This year, 62 schools received the Recognized ASCA Model Program (RAMP) designation during a special ceremony at the American School Counselor Association’s annual conference in Phoenix, Ariz. The schools were honored on June 30, 2015 for making an exemplary commitment to comprehensive school counseling programs, ASCA officials announced.

The RAMP designation, awarded for aligning with the criteria in the ASCA National Model, recognizes schools that are committed to delivering a comprehensive, data-driven school counseling program and an exemplary educational environment. Since the program’s inception, nearly 600 schools have been designated as RAMP recipients.

“This year’s RAMP honorees have shown their commitment to students and the school counseling profession,” said Jill Cook, ASCA assistant director. “This designation distinguishes these schools and encourages school counselors nationwide to continue to strive for excellence.”

This year saw a number of firsts for the program, as RAMP designations were awarded to schools from Hawaii, Mississippi and North Dakota; a school for the deaf; a virtual school; and two alternative schools.”
